

Believe

here's a line to open hoping you don't blow it don't let them see your coping don't let them see you owe it. keeping out of daylight contrast is revealing atmospheric pressure keeps it all from squealing did you ever try to tell me did you ever really believe were you in that moment in love with me..?

(I'd have seen it in your eyes – where there's no compromise)
anybody looking would have known...

huddled in position sleepless dreams evading rolling into nothing memories aren't fading everytime I see you hope claws out of hiding then pounds my heart to pieces undisclosed inviting

for that moment were you in love with me..?
(I'd have seen it in your eyes – where there's no compromise)

watching you in motion diving for your ocean your smell intoxicating years passed in the waiting every time these misses should have been the kisses bullet – should have bit it why can't I admit it did I ever try to tell you would you ever really believe forever I've been in love with you...

(I'd have seen it in your eyes – where there's no compromise) anybody looking should have known
